Aneta Bartos

Photographer / Photo director

New York (USA)

Italiano

Poland born, NYC based photographer Aneta Bartos is one of the most interesting faces of the young Big Apple. She has been freelance photographer for 6 years now and she's also photo director for indie magazine A4. Let the pictures speak for themselves.

Was it always your dream to pursue a career as a photographer?

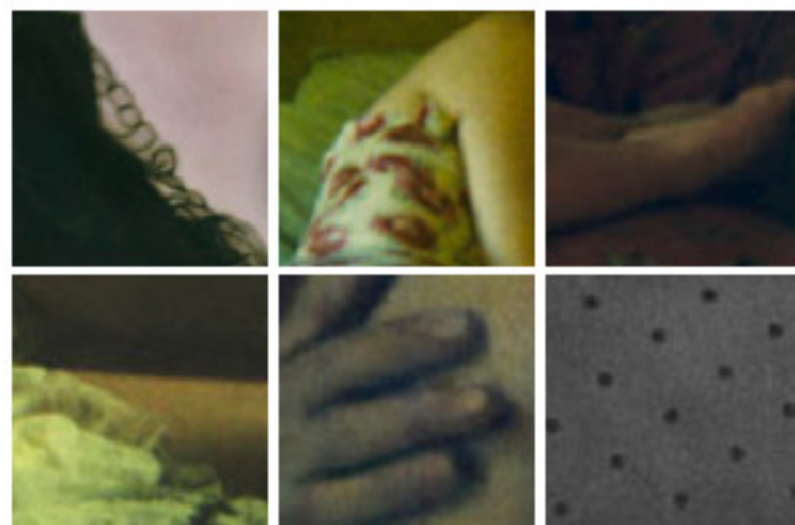

I started slowly developing an interest in photography sometime in High School. It was more of a hobby and I didn't take it seriously until second year in College. Even then, it was still a play, but was quite certain that's where I wanted to stay...
